

Press Release

June 7, 2009

New DVD players

Tours at the museum are self-guided, but now we have some narrated guides on portable DVD players. Dick and Jan Williams graciously donated $400 and we were able to purchase six players. Ed Shanley volunteered to tape the narrated tour with narration by Hale Jenkins.

The DVD players have a menu so you can select which area you want to visit – and hear a little bit about the exhibits you are viewing.

It's a nice addition to the tours and we thank everyone involved. Our future goal is to have a separate DVD player at each exhibit. This is a great start to making the exhibits more "visitor friendly."